

Abstract of the Disclosure

Device for monitoring the state of the substructure of fixed tracks, especially in the transition region of substructure supporting plates, measuring bolts, which, in vertical recesses, pass freely through the track plate above, being fastened at the ends of the substructure plates, which are to be monitored.